IOWA TRANSPORTATION MAP 2021-2022

WELCOME TO IOWA!

From Abingdon or Zwingle, we'll get you where you want to go within the borders of our beautiful land. Iowa is a resilient state that is on the move.

As you travel our great state, you'll notice many things. For those lucky travelers who will visit many different areas, you'll see that Iowans share a common thread of hospitality. Iowans don't know strangers, just friends we haven't met yet. In that spirit, our folks will be there to welcome you from small town coffee shops to large city shopping venues and everywhere in between.

Getting you to your destination can take many forms and we offer you a variety of landscapes at which to marvel. If you're of the mind that Iowa is flat, we're out to change that opinion. If you're near one of our "coasts", head on up to one of the overlooks of the Mississippi or Missouri rivers and watch barges filled with grain or other commodities moving gracefully through the water on the way to markets across the U.S. and the world.

Our nearly 115,000 miles of well-maintained roadways are second-to-none. Ribbons of concrete and asphalt help move high-tech Iowa products and agricultural commodities that feed and fuel the world. The ethanol and biodiesel produced right here in Iowa helps reduce the country's dependence on foreign sources of fuel. And Iowa's commitment to clean energy is seen in more than 4,100 wind turbines that dot our landscape producing 42 percent of the state's power and support 9,000 Iowa jobs.

However you travel, the people of Iowa are looking forward to meeting you and showing you just what treasures are hidden in plain sight.

Sincerely,

Kim Reynolds
Governor of Iowa

Adam Gregg
Lt. Governor of Iowa
